Getting Started with Compaq Enterprise Integration Packages

AV-R8R6F-TE

Software for all products licensed by the Compaq Enterprise Integration Packages is available on the OpenVMS Alpha Software Product Library (SPL). (Most OpenVMS AlphaServer Systems now include the Enterprise Integration Packages.)

The Enterprise Integration Packages Installation Guide can help you find, install, and configure the components licensed by the Enterprise Integration Packages.

This guide, along with the Enterprise Integration Packages Software Product Description (SPD), is in the SPL in the [DEIS031.DOCUMENTATION] directory. The SPL Master Index will list the SPL disc containing this directory. The Enterprise Integration Packages Installation Guide explains how to access the installation and configuration information for the products listed above.

See the SPL Master Index for the location of the Enterprise Integration Packages products and see the Online Documentation Library (ODL) Master Index for the location of the product documentation. These Master Indexes are also in the [README] directory on disc 1 of both the SPL and ODL.

Changes in the Enterprise Integration Packages March 2000 release

- The new name of this product is Compaq Enterprise Integration Packages for OpenVMS Alpha Systems.
- Beginning with this release, Compaq Archive Backup System for OpenVMS Management Tools and Compaq Archive Backup System Windows NT Client are shipped on the SPL CD set as subsets of the Compaq Archive Backup System base kit. Please refer to the SPL Master Index and the EIP Installation Guide for further details.
- OpenVMS Disk Services for Windows NT (NTDS) has not entered retirement as previously announced, and will continue to be included in the Enterprise Integration Packages.

Netscape Navigator Version

Version 3.03A of Netscape Navigator for OpenVMS is included on the OpenVMS Alpha Software Product Library. This version is functionally identical to Version 3.03 on our Web site. If updates to this software become available before the next release of the OpenVMS Alpha SPL, they will be available through this Web site, www.openvms.digital.com.

Thank you for your interest in OpenVMS and its associated layered products.
